

Here's a sample conversation between three friends, Alex, Sam, and Jordan, for two different durations:

---

10-Minute Conversation

Setting: A café, where Alex, Sam, and Jordan are catching up.

Transcript:

Alex: Hey guys! It's been a while since we hung out. How's everything going?

Sam: Yeah, it really has! I've been drowning in assignments lately. College is no joke.

Jordan: Tell me about it! I barely get time for myself. Every time I finish one thing, another deadline pops up.

Alex: Same here. But hey, we need a break sometimes. That's why I called you both here!

Sam: Good call. I was starting to forget what fun feels like.

Jordan: Haha! So, what's new with you, Alex?

Alex: Well, I started learning to play the guitar! It's been tough, but also super fun.

Sam: Whoa, that's awesome! I always wanted to learn, but never really got around to it.

Jordan: Nice! Do you play any songs yet?

Alex: Just a few basic ones. But I'm still struggling with finger placement.

Sam: You'll get there! Maybe you can play something for us next time.

Jordan: Oh, definitely. We can even have a jam session! I'll bring my keyboard.

Alex: That would be cool! Let's plan for next weekend?

Sam: Sounds good. By the way, have you guys seen that new movie everyone's talking about?

Jordan: You mean The Last Horizon? Yeah, I watched it last night!

Alex: I haven't seen it yet. No spoilers!

Sam: Same here! Is it worth watching?

Jordan: 100%! The storyline is amazing, and the cinematography is just mind-blowing.

Alex: Alright, let's watch it together this weekend after our jam session.

Sam: Perfect! A fun weekend ahead.

Jordan: Finally, something to look forward to!

(End of 10-minute conversation)

---

